BROADCASTING SERVICE OF
MICHIGAN STATE COLLEGE

Vol. 14 January, 1948 No. 4

Farmers' Week

For many years the annual Farmers' Week at Michigan State College has been the highlight of the year for many farm people. During the war years this annual event was greatly restricted and for two years discontinued entirely. This year, on the 33rd anniversary of the first Farmers' Week, the series will be resumed during the week of January 26-30. Every department in the School of Agriculture and the School of Home Economics will contribute to the meetings and exhibits under the guidance of Dean E. L. Anthony.

Broadcasts of the Farmers' Week activities have long been a feature of WKAR's service to those who cannot attend in person. This year again Farmers' Week will be on the air with broadcasts direct from the place of meeting. All the general sessions, scheduled at 3:00 P. M. on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, will be carried. Outstanding speakers at these sessions will include

Dr. Daniel A. Poling, Editor of the Christian Herald, and Mrs. Ray Sayre, President of the Associated Country Women of the World.

While thousands attend Farmers' Week each year, there are many more thousands who must remain at home to carry on the work. For these WKAR offers a service whereby they may be present in important meetings by radio. Broadcasts will feature as many of the highlights of the week as can be crowded into the schedule. Listen for announcement of the features to be broadcast and keep your dial tuned to 870 throughout the week.

State Departments

One of the important public services of WKAR is the broadcasting of information from the departments of state government in Michigan. The activities at the Capitol and the services rendered by the departments provide information of interest to all citizens.

The Michigan Legislature will convene in special session on January 15 and WKAR will broadcast the opening meeting at which the Governor will present his message. Throughout the session a weekly review of the actions taken by the lawmakers will be given.

Departments of government presenting regular weekly programs are Agriculture, Tuesday at 1:00 P.M.; Health, Wednesday at 1:00 P.M.; Public Instruction, Friday at 2:00 P.M.; Conservation, at 3:15 P.M. on Friday, and the Office of Veterans' Affairs, Wednesday at 3:15 P.M. All of these departments offer many services to the people of the state.

Governor Sigler, who has been heard regularly each Tuesday, is temporarily off the air but will return to the schedule when he has recovered from his recent operation.

News and You

The news today, both domestic and foreign, is filled with important happenings which have a very definite impact on every citizen. The deliberations regarding the postwar plans for Europe, the actions taken in the United Nations Assembly, the plans for reorganization of the state constitution, the laws being passed by the Congress or the State Legislature are all significant. The interpretation of these events for Michigan citizens is important.

Each Sunday at 3:00 P.M., WKAR presents "The News and You" with a critical discussion of one of the events of the week. On each program a guest speaker, who is a specialist in the area touched by the news, will be interviewed on the background and possible implication of the news. Members of the Legislature, State officials, members of the faculty of the College and others will be brought to the microphone.

The program is arranged by Robert Kamins, Supervisor of News and Special Events at WKAR, who will interview the speakers each week.
